Android bird song recognition app. What is the best app for song recognition.

This screen shows all the correspondences you did. The app is easy to use: just point the smartphone or tablet towards a bird, and touch the screen when the bird starts singing. BirdGenie is a new app that allows you to identify birds from their songs. This covers most of what the average user will hear. The sophisticated noise reduction function of the App means that even in noisy environments, where there is conversation or traffic, you can find out which bird listening to. Touch anywhere on BirdGenie's opening screen to record a singing bird: our pre-record function will never lose the beginning of the song. BirdGenie includes up to two hundred types of vocalization percent species: literally all birds that can be heard in a courtyard or local park, or in a hike, in North America at any time of the year. Use it in your garden, in the local park or during excursions. And that database can also help scientists who are studying how the songs vary between different regions. A touch again to stop recording at the end of the song and BirdGenie immediately analyzes and identifies the bird from its wide edge bookcase. No internet connection required. Perfect for anyone being curious and want to learn more about birds than them. Join our mailing list. BirdGenie currently supports almost two hundred types of vocalization of one hundred of the most common species and vocals throughout North America. BirdGenie is a revolutionary Apple or Android application that helps everyone with a smartphone or tablet to accurately identify birds in the backyard in the local park Or in the trailers of nature. All with the touch of a button! As shazam for birds just keep the record birdsong, and BirdGenie will help you to identify the species. Touch again to stop recording at the end of the song and BirdGenie immediately analyzes and identifies from its extensive onboard library. No internet connection required. Absolutely! We are continuing to work on adding species and supported vocalization types to BirdGenie. BirdGenie includes up to two hundred vocalization types for one hundred species: all of the birds likely to be encountered in a backyard, local park, or on a hike in North America at any time of the year. Tap anywhere on BirdGenie's opening screen to record a singing bird: our Pre-Record feature means you'll never miss the start of the song. The app's highly developed sound identification engine and expert matching system enable anyone to achieve results with previously unheard of accuracy. BirdGenie includes up to two hundred vocalization types for one hundred species: all of the birds likely to be encountered in a backyard, local park, or on a hike in North America at any time of the year. It will help you identify and learn more about the species singing around you. The app's automatic pre-record feature ensures that you won't miss the beginning of the song and BirdGenie's patented, highly accurate expert system matches the recording to the closest species. No phone or internet connection is required except for sharing and supplemental web links at the end of each species account. BirdGenie will work no matter where you are. After matching you can find out more about each species, browse their songs, learn about their habits, see photos of all of the birds' different plumages, and share your recording with friends. From here you can easily share your recordings, tap on the species to learn more about them, or re-edit and rematch them. BirdGenie is a breakthrough Apple or Android app that helps everyone with an Apple or Android smartphone or tablet accurately identify birds in their backyard, local park, or nature trail with the tap of a button! Just hold up your phone, record the bird singing, and will help you identify the species. By simply pointing your phone at the bird and tapping the record button, BirdGenie analyzes the song and helps you identify the species confidently from a small selection of the closest matches. By sharing your recordings anonymously you can help us learn what vocalization types are common in different parts of the country. country.
