Kerinth songs ringtones download

By Christell York TracFone offers prepaid talk, text, and web services with no contracts. This service is customizable with ringtones. Ringtones replace the default sound that alerts you to a call with a song of your choice. TracFone ringtones vary in cost and TracFone also charges an additional Web access charge of 0.5 units per minute of access. The total cost of the ringtone will be the cost of the tone plus the cost of the time it takes to download it. The steps to download a ringtone to your phone will vary by the type of phone. Open the Internet browser on your phone. Scroll to "Downloads" using the arrows, and select "OK." Scroll to "Ringtones," and click "OK." Select the category of ringtone you would like within the "Category" menu and press "OK." Select the specific ringtone you want using the arrow keys, and press "OK." Highlight "Buy" and press "OK" after reviewing your selection. Click the link provided in the "Thank you" screen to download the ringtone. Click "Yes" in the confirmation screen. Press the "Power/End" button to exit the ringtone screen after the "Saved" screen appears. You may also press "Launch" to hear your downloaded ringtone. If you've gotten sick of the ringtones that come with your Android phone or iPhone, it's easy enough to buy new ones. But before you do that, there are a number of sites where you can get free ringtones. We've rounded up some of the best. Will My Phone Support All Ringtones? If you own an Android device, things are simple. You can download ringtones to your Android phone directly, since it supports MP3 files as ringtones. You can even create your own custom ringtones for Android if you want. RELATED: How to Create Custom Ringtones for Your Android Phone With iPhone. Things are a little different. Most of the sites we've included in this article let you download MP3 files. But, the iPhone requires ringtones to be in their own AAC format, and they have an .m4r file extension. You can use MP3 ringtones, but you'll have to download them to a PC and convert them before you can use them on your iPhone. We've got a full guide on adding custom ringtones to your iPhone that covers how to do that conversion in iTunes and then transfer the ringtones to your phone. You can even use that same technique to make ringtones out of your own music or sounds. RELATED: How to Add Custom Ringtones to Your iPhone Is Downloading Ringtones from the Internet Safe? That all depends on where you get them, and which ones you download. There are plenty of shady websites on the Internet that try to lure you in with free ringtones. A good test is to see if the website is full of ads or asks you for money. Another common tactic is that websites will show you some ringtones, but when you click the link, the site tries to download something else. Always pay attention to the file extension to see if you're downloading the file that you requested. An executable file extension (exe, msi, dmg, apk) is a huge red flag. Then there is the issue of legality. Most websites have a mix of ringtones, some legal and some not. Obviously, if you're getting ringtones for songs from the last several decades, they're probably not not legal, and we would recommend that you stay away from them. It would be safer to buy ringtones like that or, if you already own the song, to make your own ringtone from it. So, with that out of the way, here are our top websites for downloading ringtones. Zedge Zedge hosts a variety of user-created ringtones. You can search for ringtones on the site, but the site offers no other real organization—there are no categories to browse. As you keep scrolling, more and more ringtones are loaded onto the screen for you to choose from. You can preview ringtones on the main page or the dedicated ringtone page where you also have the option to download them. Zedge also offers apps for iOS and Android which surprisingly have better interfaces and let you browse categories. Notification Sounds Notification Sounds is not the typical ringtone website. It's a place where you can get ringtones similar to the ones you expect to be pre-loaded to your phone by your phone manufacturer. The ringtones on the website are organized by categories or tags, and there are plenty of both to explore. The handy preview option lets you listen to ringtones quickly, even on mobile devices. Once you find a ringtone that you like, you can download an MP3 version (for Android devices) or an M4R version (for iPhones). If you have Android, you can download the ringtone directly to your phone. If you have an iPhone, you'll have to use iTunes to transfer the ringtone to your device. One thing to keep in mind about Notification Sounds is that most of the ringtones they host are meant to be used for notifications, not ringtones, so they're pretty short. If you're looking for ringtones for calls, the selection is more limited. Melofania Melofania is an amazing website for ringtones with a ton of features. Not only can you browse the music of various artists and download their ringtones, but you create ringtones from YouTube videos or even upload your own music. You can find your favorite ringtones using the search function on the top, and then preview the ringtone on its page. You'll find a few different variations of the ringtones to choose from. Once you've selected a ringtone you like, click the Android or iPhone button and the ringtone for the specific format you need. And once again, Android users can download directly to their phone, but iOS users will need to use their computer and iTunes as an intermediary. Important Note: As we've mentioned, downloading ringtones made from popular songs is infringing on copyright. Therefore we recommend that you use Melofania only for the music that you legally own and have the right to modify and use as a ringtone. MyTinyPhone MyTinyPhone has a gigantic collection of ringtones totaling over half a million. The ringtones are neatly organized into multiple categories like Jazz, Rock, Themes, Voice, Fun, and more—making them easy to browse. Each ringtone has a star rating and a view count, which makes it quick to filter popular ringtones. One small annoyance, though, is that you can't just click the big play button shown on the category pages to sample the ringtone. Clicking it takes you to that ringtone's page, where you can then listen to it. It's kind of a drag. Still, it's worth putting up with for the huge selection and solid categorization. You can download ringtones in either MP3 or M4R format. Audiko Audiko is another popular website that lets you download user-created ringtones. It also lets you create your own ringtones by uploading your favorite songs. On the homepage, you'll see the most popular ringtones, SMS ringtones, and the top artists in your country. Scroll down a bit and you'll find links to popular genres that you can check out. When you open a specific ringtone's page, you'll see an option to listen to the tone and its variations. If you like the ringtone, you can click the download button to start the process. Unfortunately, you'll have to create an account to download ringtones from Audiko, but the upside is that all your downloaded ringtones are saved in your account, and you can download the iOS or Android versions for them anytime you like. Audiko does have an Android App, which is free to use and does all the things that you can do on the website. A paid iOS app is also available for $0.99, but we suggest you not bother with that. It has the same functionality as the free website, and you're going to need your computer and iTunes to transfer the ringtone to your iPhone anyway. They include: Mobile 9 Zedge Notification Sounds MyTinyPhone A selection of free apps for Android and iPhones contain large categories of ringtones. Some even walk you through making a ringtone from a song you already own. Download these apps at Google Play for Android phones and the App Store for iPhones. Ringtone Maker Audiko Ringtones Free Zedge Ringtones Hip Hop & Rap Ringtones An audio editor is a type of software program that makes it easy to manipulate your music files in several ways. It includes the option to make short audio clips that are ideal for ringtones. If you have a few songs in your music library that you'd like to transform into ringtones, then an audio editor is a must. Audacity is the best known of these programs. Rather than using a full-blown audio editor, you can quickly make ringtones using an audio file splitter. This type of program doesn't have all the bells and whistles of an audio editor, but if all you want to do is make ringtones, then this type of audio tool is a good alternative. With a little bit of work, you can create free ringtones for your iPhone using tunes you already bought from iTunes without having to pay for Apple's ringtone conversion service. Thanks for letting us know! Tell us why! While the iPhone comes with a handful of distinctive and high-quality sounds that you can use as ringtones, the reality is that they're the same ones that everyone else uses, so you've heard them all before. If you want to personalize your phone in a way that not a lot of other people take the time to do, you need to know how to make a song your ringtone. Unlike purchasing ringtones in the iTunes Store, these are free. And unlike the various free ringtones you can download, these are personalized and use the songs you already love. Instructions in this article apply to all models of the iPhone, and iTunes 12, 11, 10, and 9. The process is not as simple or straightforward as most iPhone tasks, since Apple doesn't include any sort of built-in method for setting your existing songs as ringtones. You'll need to use iTunes on your computer, and follow a few steps to convert your desired song to a special file format, then sync it with your iPhone. Once you learn how to do this, though, you can do it easily for multiple songs and set up custom ringtones for all your favorite contacts. The process starts on your computer, where you will use iTunes to choose a 30-second portion of a song and export that song clip in a file format that your iPhone can recognize as a ringtone. Start iTunes on your computer. It's always a good idea to make sure you're running the latest version of iTunes, especially if you don't use it often, to make sure it will sync properly with your phone. If iTunes offers to install the latest update, let that occur before proceeding. From the iTunes music library, find a song that you want to turn into a ringtone and click on it to select the song. Play the song and decide what 30 second snippet of the song you want to make into a ringtone. It can be any point in the song. Write down the start and stop time so you know what time you'll set in a few steps. Right-click the song and choose Song Info from the drop-down menu. In the Song Info dialog box, click the Options tab. In the start and stop fields, enter the time you want the ringtone to start and stop and ensure box boxes are checked. For example, if you want the first 30 seconds of the song, choose 0:00 and 0:30. Click OK when you're done. Your ringtone must not exceed 30 seconds or it won't work, so be sure you do your math correctly. Click the File menu and choose Convert, then Convert to AAC Version. After a moment, you should see the new version of the song appear in the music library, directly under the currently selected original version of the track. On older versions of iTunes, you might need to right-click the song and choose Create AAC Version from the drop-down menu. Select the new AAC version of the song and copy it to a location on your computer. You can simply drag it to your desktop or another folder. Back in iTunes, you won't need that newly created AAC version, so you can delete it by pressing the Delete key. The original track is still set to only play for 30 seconds, so you can fix that as well. Right click the track and choose Song Info. On the Options tab, clear the checkmarks for start and stop. Click OK to save your changes. Now, locate the ringtone file you had copied out of iTunes. On a PC, click the View tab at the top of the folder and then check File name extensions in the ribbon. If you're using a Mac, click the Find menu, and then choose Preferences. In the Finder Preferences, check Show all filename extensions. Click on the song file and then, after a moment, click it a second time so you can edit the filename. Click the filename extension and change it from M4A to M4R, and press Enter. If requested, confirm that you want to make this change. Once you've created your new ringtone, then you need to sync it to your iPhone so you can begin using it. The sync process is pretty straightforward. Connect your iPhone to your computer with a USB Lightning cable and then click the iPhone icon in the upper left corner of the iTunes window. Click Tones on the left side of the screen, in the section On My Device. Drag the new ringtone file from the folder on your computer to the right side of the window, in the Tones folder. The song should sync with your iPhone immediately. Now that you've created a ringtone and copied it to your iPhone, you can configure your phone to use it when a call comes in. Start the Settings app on your iPhone. Tap Sounds & Haptics. Tap Ringtone. In the Ringtone section, find and tap on the ringtone you just made. You can also set custom ringtones for specific contacts. To do that, Start the Contacts app and tap the contact you want to change. Tap the Edit button at the top of the screen and then choose the ringtone you want to use. Thanks for letting us know! Tell us why! It seems everyone has a cellphone, smartphone or mobile phone these days. Fans of the country music genre can find a variety of country music ringtones online. There are ringtones of classic country songs and today's favorite hits. Just download the ringtone and hear your favorite songs each time the phone rings. Most sites offer free clips of songs, while others make you pay for downloads. Either way, it's a great way to customize your phone with the country songs you love! Know your phone. iPhone users may not have to click the song they download into a ringtone folder, while Android users (depending on where you get your ringtone and where it downloads to on your phone) may have to transfer the file into the "ringtones" folder. Check your phone. Most phones come with a variety of pre-programmed ringtones in them. While you may not find your favorite country song—or any popular music songs—on the phone, it can be a good source to find useful ringtones. Set the song. Once you download the song and transfer it into the right folder, you still have to select it as your ringtone. Go back into your phone's settings to see how you set a specific ringtone as default and program the song you want. Remember that most phones let you have different ringtones for different callers, so it is something you can have a little fun with. There's an app for that. Want to download an app that brings you country ringtones? There are many apps where you can find and download ringtones from there. Try looking for country music apps in your Google Play or iTunes store, too. It can be an easy way to get current ringtones.
