The site also has the right not to post selected comments. This picture limits the sovereignty of the people simply to the day when they go to the polluting stand to change or maintain the dominant party, [mostly according to their irrational choices] and then leave the sovereignty in the asafêa hands of the unscrupulous elect, and take a helpless guard post while their servants have The sovereign citizens have no recourse to intervention, when the 225 turn because of irreparable damage to the economy, to the culture, to the heritage, while they hold the image of the country, and sell its treasures to the outside world as if they were theirs. A new regime will exempt the looters of the previous one from dispute over an agreement. With Constitutions written by politicians or men appointed by them, the tragedy will continue. A Constitution only becomes meaningful if people own it and can approve it with pride and a sense of belonging. If democracy and sovereignty are to have meaning, to ensure a safer and happier country for future generations, especially at this critical moment in our history, people at all levels should be part of a bottom-up decision-making system. It would be a unique opportunity to return power to the people. The Constitution should equally recognise all those who believe in Sri Lanka as their homeland, Sinhalese, Tamil, Muslim, Malaysian and citizens and also Advisis!: it should recognise all linguistic communities as essential parts of its society and that the country belongs to all communities and that therefore everyone has an equal right to live together in peace and harmony. Harmony on the Principles of Equality, Justice and Freedom The supreme law of the nation provides for equal protection before the law and justice for all religions and races under one law for all citizens in a society founded on the rule of law, fundamental rights, freedom and social justice. One can, therefore, foresee a position in which two different political characters can reign in the two bodies. A centre-left parliament can very well meet a right-wing executive. This can be the beginning of a continuous and perpetual clash. The President appoints the Prime Minister from among the representatives. He will choose one who "thinks" gets the majority in the Assembly. With a left-wing majority in Parliament, he will be forced to settle with a left-wing Prime Minister. "Dr. N. M. Perera Can we interpret this vague clause, "who thinks" as it appears in our truncated Constitution? The draft new constitution must allow citizens to participate directly in the administration of the country. This is the ideal way for citizens to strengthen themselves against politicians; an agreement that addresses the problems of different segments of society divided by narrow racial, religious, caste, etc. A" democracy and sovereignty are to have meaning, to ensure a safer and happier country for future generations, especially at this critical moment in our history, people at all levels should be part of a bottom-up decision-making system" We have experienced the first bad results of the EU Presidency and the EU Presidency. Executive during the cohabitation CBK-RW "unity" (2001-2004] He reconquered the nation for several years before he was unilaterally dissolved by President Chandrika. Having not learned the lesson, the elector for the second time, in 2015, preferred a "hybrid" administration consisting of a SLFP President and a joint Parliament of the main UNP and a part of a divided SLFP, working under the leader of the UNP; that the common presidential candidate of 2010, the Field Marshal Sarath Fonseka, has recently defined the worst coalition government that has ever worked the article «The government must act on this clause to intervene directly, ask, Tamil language people should be able to sing the National Anthem in Tamil or a single hymn in Sinhala with a few verses I am in Tamil. The new South African national anthem, ordered by Nelson Mandela, is an anthem sung in five languages. The constitutional provisions which prevent the denial of democratic rights, arbitrary arrests, violation of human rights, corruption, malversations, accumulation of wealth by small groups, poverty, which our country has had to face since it has gained independence under every government. The LLRC, appointed by President Mahinda Rajapaksa in his report, underlined "the main cause" of ethnic conflict - Paragraph 8.150: "The Commission believes that the main cause of ethnic conflict in Sri Lanka lies in the inability of governments which have succeeded in facing the real remonstrations of the Tamil people." The task of the Constitutional Formulation Committee is to draft a new Constitution in which all communities can contribute to growth and live a peaceful life without fear of conflicts. Before extremist groups try to nationalize the issue, moderate and moderate masses must strive to find acceptable answers for all! The government must focus on more imperative economic issues that are much more significant than a mere symbolism. The power to govern should ultimately be in the hands of the people themselves, giving them power at the basic level, so that those who are elected to the government are truly obliged to become the servants of those who elect them. A 'Deontological Code' for parliamentarians is of fundamental importance. Separation of the powers of the Executive, Legislative and Judicial, with appropriate controls and counterweights, to prevent one having supremacy over the other and to ensure the cohesion of all sections,the interests of democracy and the rule of law. Civilian-Authority is the only way out of the existing structure that is rotten to the nucleus. It is disappointing that the unconscionable strikes that are called by " unions" and groups of NGOs motivated by personal interest and opportunism are causing a huge discomfort to the public. The loss of men/hours and money of value and the deprivation of the rights to education, travel and health structures of citizens has reached irrecoverable proportions. The timing and nature of most of the strikes that took place indicate that they are supported by an immoral political agenda of disgrunting elements and often by rejected political leaders, which on the other hand, resounds the incompetent incompetence of the dominant factions to "satisfy their promises", are the crucial areas that the framers of the project need to concentrate on.
