One of the most stylish parts of the new Android version is to discover a hidden Easter egg that remained in the menu. Over the years, we have seen how strange they are, and the Easter egg nut is probably the strangest (and interesting!) So far: cat collection. Basically, Nougat introduces a new secret quick settings tile (as they can now be customized to the user's needs), which allows users to place food on the plate that will attract cats from cartoons to the phone. When cats arrive, a statement will appear: the cat is here. The cat will take what is on the plate, join your collection, and you can start again and catch another cat. Be careful - collecting these stupid cats makes it dependent. Here's how to start. First, go access to the settings menu by pulling the notification area twice and then touching the gear icon. Scroll down from there and tap . Touch the Android version several times, which will feature a new menu with logo (NUGAT). Press n five or six times, then press and hold. It will show the emotion at the bottom of a small cat, and he seems to do nothing more. But that's it! Give the notification to the bar a few more blows to detect the quick settings menu. Then press - Change. Slide with your finger to add tiles is a new option with a chat icon and signature à ??? Android Easter eggs. Press and hold this tile, and then pull it to the quick settings area. After returning the fast settings menu, the new icon will say "blank plate". Give him a small menu that will appear with four options: pieces, fish, chicken and treatment. Tap one to add it to the jar. Now is the time you wait. The statement will appear after an indefinite (and variable) time. If you have an elegant clock with Android, it also vibrates, for example, a cat swamp. Touch the notification to open a new chat menu where you will see a variety of chat and their number. As far as I know, they start at about 100 and reach 999, so there seems to be many cats to collect. It is better to continue. You can also change their names with one click. Finally, if you ever want to admire your cat's collection, all you have to do is sleep for a long time on the cat for a quick adjustment. You can also share or remove all chat with long pressing.
